THE CELEBRATED CRONDALL HOARD OF SAXON AND MEROVINGIAN COINS.

These interesting Coins have been frequently described, and the particulars of the trouvaille will be found in the following letter addressed to J. Y. AKERMAN, Esq.

Ewshot, June 13, 1843.

Dear Sir,

The coins which you have received from me for the purpose of publication in the NUMISMATIC CHRONICLE were found by myself in the autumn of 1828, on a heath in the Parish of Crondall in Hampshire. This heath is a continuation of Bagshot Heath. The boundary of the counties of Surrey and Hampshire crosses it in the Parish of Crondall, skirting an old encampment, situated on the abrupt point of a hill called Cæsar's Camp," within about a mile of which, or a little more, on the flat waste below, I discovered these coins. A turf had been pared off for firing in the usual manner, leaving a smooth " dished " surface, on the centre of which I saw a little heap of apparently brass waistcoat buttons lying mixed, but with the bright edges just washed bare by the late rains. On picking them up they proved to be these gold coins, and the two jewelled ornaments and chains. The coins must have been confined in a purse, though there was no trace of one left, as some of the stones set in the ornaments had fallen out, but were found among the coins, together with a little stone, since lost, probably belonging to some other ornament which had perished.

I had, therefore, no reason to suppose they had been moved, except by the turf cutter, who, I fancy, cut them out in the middle of his turf, which broke as he turned it over, and the coins, contained in a portion of the broken turf, fell back on the spot without his observing them. They were lying altogether on the surface completely cut out by the turf cutter's spade, and upon a slight search which I made I could find no trace of any more.

The collection consisted of one hundred small gold coins, the two jewelled ornaments and chains, one of which was perfect at the time of their discovery, and one fragment of a forged gold coin, of which the circumference was perfect but the centre decayed. I should add that there is a slight appearance of something artificial in the state of the land in which these coins were found. It seems to be laid up in ridges following one another in curved lines over some extent of ground, but I am not at all sure that this is not a fanciful supposition.

I am, etc.,

C. E. LEFROY.

The Executors of the late Lord Grantley instruct us to offer the collection of Crondall Find Coins, Nos. 495 to 587 in one lot.

* Numismatic Chronicle, Vol. VI, p. 171. Ibid, Vol. X (new series), p. 164; Kenyon's Gold Coins of England; B.M. Catalogue, Saxon Coins, Vol. I.

The Saxon jewels which figured in the Hoard were not in Lord Grantley's collection, and only 97 coins were found out of the 100 as stated in the sale catalogue of the property of C. Maxwell Lefroy, of Crondall, Hants (Sotheby, Wilkinson & Hodge, 1 November 1895).

In the descriptions of the coins we have followed as far as possible the above catalogue, where, however, some of the types represented in Numismatic Chronicle, 1st series, Vol. VI, 1843-4, page 171, Plate I and II are not given.

We have also referred to J. E. Lefroy's article in Num. Chron. X, 1870, pp. 165-176.

502 A Tremissis, similar, wt. 19.3 grs. Very fine 1

*503 N Tremissis, rev. legend SOTVGVAIN DIT IND, in centre V°T/ᵒᵒᵒ/XX/°, 20 grs., fine (cf. Num. Chron. X, 1870, p. 167 (rev. b)

Keary, in the B.M. Catalogue of the Anglo-Saxon Series, Vol. I, p. XIII, remarks, " This type is a direct copy from Roman coins, viz. of coins of Licinius I (A.D. 307-323). Their obverse legend seems to show traces of the word LICINIVS, with profile bust copied from the bust on Roman coins. The reverses have the letters $\frac{\text{ToV}}{\text{xx}}$ and $\frac{\text{VoT}}{\text{xx}}$ surrounded by a triple circle of dots, the whole being a degraded form of the type $\frac{\text{VoT}}{\text{xx}}$ enclosed in a laurel wreath, which is that of the Roman coins. This is a type scarcely to be found on Merovingian trientes, but, on the other hand, it is very similar to a type which occurs with great frequency upon the sceattas."

*504 N Tremissis, DNEoLΔRPPAVI, diademed bust to r.; rev. VICTORIA AVGVSTORV — SONOC, victory standing to face, holding in l. globus cr., below which, star, wt. 23.1 grs. (l.c., Pl. I, 4, and N. Chr. 1870, p. 167). Very fine

∴ Keary, Anglo-Saxon Coins, I, p. XIII, remarks, "Another coin has been described as copied from the money of Leo I (A.D. 457-474), and certainly the obv. legend as engraved seems to bear the traces of the inscription DN . LEON. The type, however, is a common Merovingian one, that of the Victory facing, head l.; holding an orb surmounted by a cross. And without the opportunity of examining the coin, I should not like to say that it was not really copied from a Merovingian triens."

*505 N Tremissis, ABBONI MANET, degraded Merovingian bust to l.; rev. cruciform monogram of peculiar shape, wt. 19.4 grs (l.c., Pl. I, 12). Very fine

Keary, l.c., p. XIV, " Abbo is the name of a known Merovingian moneyer, who worked at Chalons, circa A.D. 593, and again at Limoges, circa A.D. 604. This coin does not seem to have been the work of Abbo himself, but rather a ruder copy of a coin by this moneyer. Le Vicomte Ponton d'Amécourt accepts the coin of the Crondall find as evidence that Abbo worked as a moneyer in England, and suggests that he came here in the train of St. Augustine, in A.D.

596. (Queen Berchta would be a more likely person to bring a Frankish moneyer in her train). See Annuaire Num., Vol. III, p. 299, etc., Le Monétaire Abbo. And this view is apparently accepted by Mr. Kenyon in his "Gold Coins of England" (p. 5). It sems to the present writer more probable that these coins, which by general consent differ considerably from the coins of Abbo executed in France, are merely imitations of Merovingian trientes made in this country." Vide also, Forrer, Biog. Dict. of Medallists, Vol. I, p. 9).

*506 A Tremissis of London, bust facing, derived from bust on Byzantine coins, J. H. Lefroy, N. Chr. 1870, describes this bust as the earliest portrait of a London Ecclesiastic; rev. Roman cross enclosed in wreath; around, LONDVNIV, wt. 20 grs. (l.c., Pl. II, 28). Very fine

507 A Tremissis of London, similar, legend complete, wt. 20 grs. Very fine 1

508 A Tremissis of London, similar, wt. 20.2 grs. Very fine 1

509 A Tremissis of London, similar, wt. 20.4 grs. Very fine 1

510 A Tremissis of London, similar, . . . NDVNIV, wt. 20 grs. Fine 1

511 A Tremissis of London, similar, LONDVNIV, wt. 20.1 grs. Fine 1

512 A Tremissis of London, similar, LVNDVNIV, wt. 20 grs., fine, B.M. Cat. Anglo-Saxon Coins, p. XIV, Note 2 1

*513 A Tremissis (London ?), profile bust to r., within wreath; rev. LUOONMONA, dotted circle enclosing a cross, the limbs of which pass through the sides of a square compartment, wt. 19.9 grs. (l.c., Pl. II, 26; N. Chr. 1870, p. 170). Very fine

*514 A Tremissis (London ?), profile bust to left, crude, within wreath; rev. dotted circle enclosing cross; legend + OSVVNOOUNOU (LUUONMONA), wt. 19.5 grs. (l.c., Pl. II, 24; N.C. 1870, p. 171). Very fine

*514a A Tremissis (London ?), similar type, + SUDONUUONIA, wt. 20.2 grs. (l.c., Pl. II, 25). Very fine

*515 AV Tremissis (London?), similar type, + SOVVNVOOVVΩ, wt. 20 grs. Very fine

*516 AV Tremissis (London?), similar type, + ZUOONVONVV, wt. 20.1 grs. Very fine

*517 AV Tremissis (London ?), similar type, + SUOONVVONV, wt. 19.9 grs. Very fine

*518 AV Tremissis (London ?), similar type, . . . ONVVOVVV . , wt. 19.8 grs. Very fine

*519 AV Tremissis (London ?), similar type, + . . . NUUOWA, wt. 19.9 grs. Very fine

520 AV Tremissis (London ?), similar type, + ZUUONVVON, wt. 19.9 grs. Very fine

*521 AV Tremissis, AVDVARID REGES, diademed bust to r. (negro-like profile); rev. MEASSGENVS, small cross on globe within dotted circle (l.c., Pl. II, 23; N.C. 1870, p. 171), wt. 19.4 grs. Very fine

∴ This Edward may have been a King of the South Saxons, and it has been suggested that the Celtic termination "genus" in MEASSGENVS on the rev. points to the influence of the Scottish monks, Dinab and his brethren, at Boshane, who unsuccessfully attempted the conversion and civilization of the South Saxons before the advent of St. Wilfrith, in which case this coin is one of the most interesting in the group." (N. Chr. 1870, p. 171).

*522 AV Tremissis, : EANMVND . IICI . , diademed bust to left, rev. eight V shaped ornaments, disposed around a beaded circle, enclosing a cross pattée, with a pellet in each angle, wt. 19.3 grs. (l.c., Pl. II, 31). Very fine

*523 AV Tremissis, similar type, wt. 20.2 grs. Very fine

524 AV Tremissis, similar type, wt. 19.4 grs. Very fine

*525 AV Tremissis, similar type, rev. the cross pattée apparently attached to a shaft, wt. 20 grs.

*526 AV Tremissis, bare-headed bust to r. in armour, showing double row of pellets; behind, STAN (?); in front, trident sceptre with forked end; below, A, and to r. ⌒ . (or AV); rev. cross fourcheé within beaded circle, legend around, blurred, LIΛIE MONE, wt. 20.1 grs. (N. Chr. 1870, p. 172, 27 var. 5). Very fine

∴ The discovery of a coin of this type near Canterbury in 1844 attaches a further interest to those of the Crondall hoard, and shows that they were in general circulation at the time of their collection (loc. cit. p. 172).

*527 AV Tremissis, similar type; no trace of legend on obv.; in front of bust, trident; rev. LIΛIE MO, wt. 19.8 grs. (l.c., Pl. II, 27). Very fine

*528 AV Tremissis, similar type, rev. VNLIAIE MONIT, wt. 19.8 grs. Very fine

*529 AV Tremissis, similar type, rev. ΛI : LLEINΛIE MONI . . , wt. 20.8 grs. Very fine

530 AV Tremissis. Similar type, rev. VNIIΛIE MONI, wt. 20 grs., very fine 1

531 AV Tremissis. Similar type, rev. VNI . . ΛΛI . ΛIE MONI. ., wt. 20 grs., very fine 1

of Coins and Medals.

AFTER each sale these catalogues are issued with the prices realised printed in the margin opposite each lot, thus giving at a glance a reliable guide to values.

The final test of value must always be auction prices rather than the figures given in books of reference, for changing times and fashions soon render the latter obsolete and misleading.
